

REVEAL / My Art and Covid

Reveal, originally inspired by the idea of the Earth being excavated with impending danger to the planet's future, was made during the first year of Covid-19. The work moved slowly as it yielded each day to the virus' news and my isolation. Hope and despair wrestled with the resolution of each piece. Earth's internal mass seemed to me, at times, as an illusion of Covid-19 virus. The round wood formats were sourced from the internet and are painted on both sides. They extend from the wall to meet the viewer and then the viewer can drop into its concave well or abyss as the Covid news continues to disrupt. They are as ambiguous as the era and ready for the viewer's interpretation.
